Hunted Clair M. Poulson

Zach Barlow, a young returned missionary, didn't want Caden Pendleton to join his group of friends on a hunting trip to the High Uintahs. But the newcomer's offer to help pay expenses changed Zach's mind, despite his misgivings. Yet when Caden's temper stirs up trouble in camp, Zach's misgivings turn to regrets. And when Caden is found dead in the woods, shot with a hunter's rifle, those regrets turn to raw panic. Zach's hunting camp has become a murder scene, and the murder weapon's owner—a young woman named Bria—is nowhere to be found.

As Sheriff Lee Rutger and his deputies confront the mystery of the dead man and the missing girl, more disappearances follow. Can the sheriff stop the relentless hunter before he himself becomes the hunted?

About the Author Clair M. Poulson retired after twenty years in law enforcement. He currently serves as a justice court judge for Duchesne County, a position he has held for about twenty years. His forty-year career working in the criminal justice system has provided a wealth of information from which he draws in writing his books. With his latest book, Clair has published eighteen novels, many of them bestsellers.
