Laser Processing of Materials: 139 (Springer Series in Materials Science) Peter Schaaf (Ed.)

Laser materials processing has made tremendous progress and is now at the forefront of industrial and medical applications. The book describes recent advances in smart and nanoscaled materials going well beyond the traditional cutting and welding applications. As no analytical methods are described the examples are really going into the details of what nowadays is possible by employing lasers for sophisticated materials processing giving rise to achievements not possible by conventional materials processing.
