My blurb is simple. So simple because it is. It is the way I've learned to meditate. Some people it happens fast and others slow. I have manifested things for myself but what helped the most is the imaginary world when you block this world out. Then you make any movie you (one which you create) with your most wanted wish in it will come to reality. I have been doing it for 30 years. The best thing now is when I go into my imagination and see my son as he was before he was burnt up is he appears exactly the way he was and we have fun together and then a blue light comes that is the most blissful thing anyone can experience. It took me till I learned this simple technic 10 years to see the blue light. What you are doing is going to your highest consciousness when you block the world out and go within. The higher plane is in you in your mind. But one must want this thing they meditate for to be more important then this world in your imagination things change in this world. Think of it as practice learning how to meditate then put in the drama and bliss wake updo it everyday for 8 to 20 minutes no matter what. After all it is the best movie because it is everything you want to happen here. Then you can make new movies and eventually you have peace even though the world changes and your visions become more important as it is a higher state. The Christ mind. Also if it does not happen immediately you still have the bliss of having done it in your higher state. You wake up very happy. I meditated for 2 weeks about a huge diamond ring. They my husband gave me a 2 karat heart diamond. So now I have my first smaller heart and now a bigger one. Done it for many things but the loss of my son in a car accident has been this gift of going to the other side to be with him. At first one my only get a glimpse but the more you do it the more you get.
